Remorse is a distressing emotion experienced by a person who regrets actions which they deem to be shameful, hurtful, or violent. Remorse is closely allied to guilt and self-directed resentment. When a person regrets an earlier action or failure to act, it may be because of remorse or in response to various other consequences, including being punished for the act or omission. Anger or wrath is an intense emotional state. It involves a strong uncomfortable and hostile response to a perceived provocation, hurt, or threat. A person experiencing anger will often experience physical conditions such as increased heart rate, elevated blood pressure, and increased levels of adrenaline and noradrenaline. Some view anger as an emotion which triggers part of the fight or flight response.

Perplexities for 1. Introduction The public has increasingly been given the message that ‘psychopaths are threatening, expensive, and untreatable’. For example, in 2006 Babiak and Hare wrote p 17–18 “We now know that both male and female psychopaths commit a greater number and variety of crimes than do other criminals.
