knowledge and interpretations of historical and literary sources the collection unites historians and literary scholars in addressing the issues of war and displacement from multiple angles contributors draw on a wealth of primary source materials and resources including archives from across the world military records medical records films memoirs diaries and letters both published and private and fictional interpretations of experience the international relations of the middle east have long been dominated by uncertainty and conflict external intervention interstate war political upheaval and interethnic violence are compounded by the vagaries of oil prices and the claims of military nationalist and religious movements the purpose of this book is to set this region and its conflicts in context providing on the one hand a historical introduction to its character and problems and on the other a reasoned analysis of its politics in an engagement with both the study of the middle east and the theoretical analysis of international relations the author who is one of the best known and most authoritative scholars writing on the region today offers a compelling and original interpretation written in a clear accessible and interactive style the book is designed for students policymakers and the general reader there might appear to be little that binds the study of order and the study of violence and conflict bloodshed in its multiple forms is often seen as something separate from and unrelated to the domains of normal politics that constitute what we think of as order but violence is used to create order to maintain it and to uphold it in the face of challenges this volume demonstrates the myriad ways in which order and violence are inextricably intertwined the chapters embrace such varied disciplines as political science economics history sociology philosophy and law employ different methodologies from game theory to statistical modeling to in depth historical narrative to anthropological ethnography and focus on different units of analysis and levels of aggregation from the state to the individual to the world system all are essential reading for anyone who seeks to understand current trends in global conflict the children in our world picture book series helps children make sense of the larger issues and crises that dominate the news in a sensitive and appropriate manner with relatable comparisons carefully researched text and striking illustrations children can begin to understand what war and conflict are how they affect people and how readers can help those who are affected where issues aren t appropriate to describe in words hanane kai s striking and sensitive illustrations help children visualise what war and conflict are in images that are suited to their age and disposition the series forms an excellent cross curricular resource that looks at refugees war poverty and racism making them ideal for tying into refugee week and current affairs dicussions chiozza and goemans seek to explain why and when political leaders decide to initiate international crises and wars they argue that the fate of leaders and the way leadership changes shapes leaders decisions to initiate international conflict leaders who anticipate regular removal from office through elections for example have little to gain and much to lose from international conflict whereas leaders who anticipate a forcible removal from office such as through coup or revolution have little to lose and much to gain from conflict this theory is tested against an extensive analysis of more than 80 years of international conflict and with an intensive historical examination of central american leaders from 1848 to 1918 leaders and international conflict highlights the political nature of the choice between war and peace and will appeal to all scholars of international relations and comparative politics laura sjoberg positions gender and gender subordination as key factors in the making and fighting of global conflict through the lens of gender she examines the meaning causes practices and experiences of war building a more inclusive approach to the analysis of violent conflict between states considering war at the international state substate and individual levels sjoberg's feminist perspective elevates a number of causal variables in war decision making these include structural gender inequality cycles of gendered violence state masculine posturing the often overlooked role of emotion in political interactions gendered understandings of power and states mistaken perception of their own autonomy and unitary nature gendering global conflict also calls attention to understudied spaces that can be sites of war such as the workplace the household and even the bedroom her findings show gender to be a linchpin of even the most tedious and seemingly bland tactical and logistical decisions in violent conflict armed with that information sjoberg undertakes the task of redefining and reintroducing critical readings of war's political economic and humanitarian dimensions developing the beginnings of a feminist theory of war
